

Job: Oregon State University

The College of Business at Oregon State University invites applicants for an anticipated full time (1.0 FTE), nine-month tenure-track position in Entrepreneurship at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin September 2013.

Primary teaching responsibilities involve delivering high-quality teaching of undergraduate and graduate courses in entrepreneurship, new product development, or technology and innovation management. Scholarly activities are expected to result in peer-reviewed publications in respected journals. Service responsibilities include engaging with the Austin Entrepreneurship Program.

Required qualifications include an appropriate earned doctorate from an AACSB International accredited university or equivalent with an emphasis in entrepreneurship, evidence of or potential and motivation for scholarly publication and teaching effectiveness, teaching experience at the university level commensurate with job requirements. Preferred qualifications include relevant professional non-academic work experience and ability to develop strong linkages with the business community, practical and/or academic experience in the areas of entrepreneurship, new product development, innovation, or technology commercialization, interest in new product development or marketing, demonstrable commitment to promoting and enhancing diversity.

Applications must be submitted using the university's on-line application process at <http://oregonstate.edu/jobs> and search for Posting No. 0009272, or use the Quick Link: <https://jobs.oregonstate.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=60630>. For full consideration, applications must be received by 9/15/2012.

Candidates should submit a letter of interest that clearly indicates interest in the position, a vita including summary information of courses taught and student evaluations, as well as the names, addresses and phone numbers of three professional references, and a brief statement that describes research interests and teaching philosophy. OSU is an AA/EOE.

As this advertisement is being posted in multiple locations, please include in your letter of interest that you saw this posting on ELMAR and whether or not you will attend the American Marketing Association Summer Educators' Conference in Chicago.